

CALL FOR BOOK CHAPTERS

YOUNG GEOGRAPHERS

Dear Colleagues

We would like to inform you that EUROGEO, the European Association of Geographers, has signed a contract with SPRINGER International Publishing AG, a long time associate and collaborator with our association, to publish a new book entitled YOUNG GEOGRAPHERS.

We are seeking to identify young geographers who would like to declare their interest in publishing their research in this collection.

Scope:

"Young Geographers" is concerned with geographers in their first career stages. The goal of the book is to encourage Young Geography Researchers to share their research - PhD students and Postdocs ("young" refers to first stage researchers (R1) not in terms of their age; predoc working on their PhD thesis, and experienced researchers (R2) that have successfully defended their PhD thesis) who are working on various geographical themes and implementing cutting edge research methodologies or geospatial technologies. The book will touch on the most important issues to young geographers and emphasize different geographical questions made by early career researchers. More specifically, the book will include chapters contributing to a better understanding of the world, geographical knowledge and skills needed in order to address global issues: physical, environmental, regional, spatial, social, educational,...and other geography-related areas.

We welcome proposals for book chapter contributions centered (but not exclusively) on the themes that concern early career researchers. Given that these issues transcend national boundaries, cultures and scientific backgrounds, EUROGEO believes that scientists from various countries, disciplines and scientific approaches should be given the opportunity to participate in this book.
